Theology of Work

The Theology of Work (TOW) grant program was established in 2007 by the Mustard Seed Foundation in collaboration with the Bakke Graduate University (BGU). The aim of this special grant initiative is to enable theological institutions and training organizations worldwide to instruct seminarians, pastors, and educators in a biblical basis of a theology of work. This theological understanding empowers ordinary people to infuse their Christian faith in the institutions, structures, and industries in which they work throughout the week. It is our desire to see those trained through our grants begin teaching and modeling this theological concept in their own churches and ministries.

Theology of Work grants are awarded to theological institutions, both formal and non-formal, to create and offer courses that teach students a theology of work to enable them to teach others. The institutions are encouraged to integrate this theology into their core curriculum to continue to teach the course after the grant-funded classes are completed. The TOW grants program is administered by BGU, which fosters a network of people and resources specializing in developing and teaching curriculum for theology of work.

In 2009 we awarded 36 grants totaling $294,357 to seminaries and ministries worldwide in hopes that through them churches will teach and encourage their congregants to actively minister through their work. ✨
