

“How shall we picture the kingdom of God? . . .

It is like a mustard seed . . .”

—MARK 4:30-32

The Mustard Seed Foundation is a Christian family foundation established in 1983 under the leadership of Dennis W. Bakke and Eileen Harvey Bakke. The Foundation was created as an expression of their desire to be faithful stewards of the financial resources entrusted to them, to bring together the Christian members of their extended families into common ministry, and to advance the Kingdom of God. The Foundation provides grants to churches and Christian organizations worldwide that are engaged in Christian ministry including outreach, discipleship, and economic empowerment. The Foundation also awards scholarships to Christians pursuing advanced educational degrees in preparation for leadership roles in both the Church and society. All directors and staff of the Mustard Seed Foundation are committed followers of Jesus Christ and affirm the Lausanne Covenant.

Dear friends of the Mustard Seed Foundation,

When we started the Foundation in 1984, we did not have a fully developed philosophy of giving that would guide this organization into the future. We did surround ourselves with people of faith from both the Bakke and Harvey families to help us discern what good stewardship meant. Over the years, a simple approach evolved.

The resources entrusted to us don't belong to us: God has called us to be stewards or caretakers. We chose to consume as few of those resources for our own lifestyle as reasonable, consistent with our life callings, and to give the rest away in a thoughtful, disciplined manner.

Our primary granting strategy has been to discern what local churches are doing around the world and participate with them. In the early years of the Foundation's giving decisions, we recognized that in order for a ministry project to succeed, it needed to have local accountability and sustainability. Churches are the embodiment of Christ in the world. Thus, over the years, we have matched thousands of initiatives that local churches around the world have launched and/or financially supported. Our grants are intended to help a project in its early years. Supported initiatives ultimately must be sustained through the work, prayers and financial support of the churches in their communities.

We fund church sponsored efforts to reach their neighbors with the good news of Christ, to give economic power to the poor, and to educate Christians to deepen their faith. We expect that each grant will accomplish something important in the church community and has some chance of being both sustainable and life changing for the people affected. Nearly $5 million, or 50% of Mustard Seed's 2007 annual budget, was invested in 943 local church initiatives. Over 88% of these grants went to match local churches outside the United States.

In addition to the core granting discussed above, the Foundation funds four other initiatives. In 2007 our Harvey Fellows Program provided $1.1 million in scholarships to 75 gifted Christian graduate students enrolled in elite universities who are preparing to teach at secular universities or to pursue leadership positions in other important vocational fields. One of the highlights of the year was the Harvey Fellows 15th Year Celebration and Summer Institute in California, where nearly 100 current and past fellows came together for a rich time of study and celebration.

Over 1,000 students attending Christ-centered colleges and seminaries outside the United States received $1.5 million in scholarships through our Theological Education program. Another 57 students enrolled at Bakke Graduate University (BGU) were awarded scholarships for their work toward Doctorate or Masters degrees. Of these scholarships, 77% were awarded to students who live and minister outside the United States.

The year also marked the beginning of a new granting program, Theology of Work. These grants are given to theological institutions in the US and other parts of the world so that they can develop curriculum and courses to teach pastors, other Christian teachers, and lay people to connect Sunday with Monday. In its inaugural year, 11 Theology of Work grants totaling $88,000 were awarded.

We want to recognize and thank the 16 members of the staff, who are ambassadors for Christ and for the Foundation. We welcomed Vivian Fayek from Cairo to our Middle East staff, and bid goodbye to John Tooke, who retired in 2007 after six years as our wise and much beloved staff member in South Africa. We also want to recognize Eric Hornberger and Lonni Jackson who, in addition to their regional leadership responsibilities, assumed the roles of Executive Directors of the Foundation.

The Junior Board, comprised of members of the Harvey and Bakke families ages 13 to 18, awarded 17 grants totaling nearly $200,000. Stuart Harvey succeeded Nathan Mansell as Board Chair. On the Senior Board, Margaret Harvey Thompson became a permanent Board member and Carolyn Thompson and Elizabeth Bakke were elected to new five-year terms. We are extremely grateful for the dedicated, wise participation of all of our board members.

Looking ahead to 2008, we anticipate an operating budget of $10 million, the largest in the history of the Foundation. We plan to add a regional staff member in Southeast Asia, and we will launch the Daniel Award, a scholarship program in India modeled after the Harvey Fellows Program. Most importantly, we will celebrate 25 years of God's faithfulness to the Mustard Seed Foundation and our mission to support the work of Christ and his people around the world

In Christ,

Dennis and Eileen Bakke

Guiding Principles

CHRIST AND HIS KINGDOM

The gospel of Jesus Christ and the advancement of his kingdom are central to all that we are and all that we do. It is our joy to worship and serve him and to submit ourselves to the authority of the Bible. We seek to be Christ's servants and ambassadors and to encourage as many as will come to follow Christ. We seek to encourage the formation of disciples from every "unreached" community, city, and culture. We desire to see the whole Church bring the whole gospel to the whole world. Therefore, we award grants and scholarships to churches and individuals representing the spectrum of biblical Christianity, including Orthodox, Catholic, Protestant, and Evangelical traditions. We affirm God's redeeming and restorative grace and power as sufficient to bring blessing to all structures, institutions, and societies. All grant and scholarship recipients of the Mustard Seed Foundation must proclaim a personal faith in Christ, affirm the basic tenets of orthodox Christianity, and desire to serve and witness in Christ's name.

GLOBAL

The Mustard Seed Foundation recognizes the global nature of the Body of Christ. Therefore, we desire to participate in God's work to encourage churches and individuals through grants and scholarships around the world. Our goal is to give the majority of our funding to churches and individuals worldwide, while intentionally limiting our investment in the United States. Since the Foundation's inception in 1983, we have awarded grants and scholarships in nearly 150 countries.

LOCAL CHURCH

We recognize the Church as God's primary representative in the world. Therefore, we try to maximize the role and responsibility of local congregations in the initiatives we support. We seek to partner with and empower local congregations to identify, equip, and support their members who are called to specific areas of ministry in the church, marketplace, and the world. We also consider local church support and accountability as primary indicators of the priority, integrity, and sustainability of any potential grant or scholarship initiative.

INDIVIDUALS IN COMMUNITY

We believe that God endows individuals with the passions and gifts needed to further the work of his Kingdom. We believe that God desires those whom he calls and equips to be both nurtured by and held accountable to the local Body of Christ. It is our belief that individuals are strongest and most able to fulfill their callings when they are integral members of a local church. Thus, in all our giving we seek to support individuals who are active members of a church community. The power of individuals to be agents of grace and change in community is exemplified in history. We therefore seek opportunities to empower individuals who are clearly affirmed and supported by their local church to use their unique gifts to fulfill their callings.

SMALL BEGINNINGS

The biblical parable of the mustard seed reminds us that great things often have small beginnings. Through abiding in Christ and following him our seemingly small efforts possess power beyond imagination. This parable exhorts us to respond faithfully to God's calling but to trust outcomes to him. In our giving we seek to trust individuals and churches as they listen to God by taking small steps toward their visions. Therefore, our grants are available to churches, including those that may be poor, powerless, or unproven. We recognize that results cannot be guaranteed and that big results often have risky beginnings. We choose to specialize in small, start-up initiatives, trusting that what is sown in faith will return abundantly.

2007 Overview

The Foundation's expenditures totaled $9.4 million in 2007, roughly 15 percent more than 2006. Approximately 86 percent of these funds were given to individuals, churches, and Christian organizations through over 1,700 scholarships and 1,000 grants. The remaining 14.4 percent, or $1,352,246, was used to administer this work through an international team of 16 staff located in eight countries around the globe.

Nearly 53 percent, or "$4,946,676, of total operating expenditures was given through grants primarily to local churches in major urban centers worldwide. Granting remains the primary giving area and continued to grow in its share of our total expenditures in 2007. The Foundation divides granting into eight geographic regions. The percentage of granting in North America continued to fall relative to 2006, primarily due to intentional limits placed on giving in the United States. As a result, Europe was the largest granting region in terms of financial investment, surpassing giving in North America for the first time.

Scholarship giving was channeled through the Harvey Fellows, Theological Education, and Bakke Graduate University scholarship programs. Together these scholarship initiatives represent 31.1 percent, or $2,923,098, of our 2007 expenditures. While scholarships increased in total dollars, they remained constant as a percentage of total giving compared to 2006.

The remaining two percent of our giving went to new or special initiatives of the Foundation. These included our new Theology of Work grant program, and matching personal gifts given by Foundation Board and staff to Christian organizations.

Grants

As our name implies, the Mustard Seed Foundation provides seed funding for small start-up projects of churches and Christian organizations around the world. We seek to partner with congregations that identify, equip, and support their members who are called to specific areas of ministry in the Church and society. We look for initiatives that offer innovative approaches to church-based ministry. The Foundation seeks to help launch projects as a minority partner, providing funds over a limited time period, and in a way that encourages self-sufficiency and reliance on the local church. We consider local church accountability and financial support to be primary indicators of the priority, integrity, and sustainability of a particular project. A church must be willing to invest financially in a project for us to consider investing in it. The Foundation has a strong interest in the unique challenges faced by the urban church and we believe investing in churches located in large cities is particularly strategic. We typically fund projects that share the gospel with non-Christians (outreach), generate income and economic decision-making opportunities to poorer Christians (empowerment), or equip Christians to better proclaim and demonstrate the gospel (discipleship).

Grants OVERVIEW

Providing seed funding to start-up ministry efforts of churches in major urban centers of the world continues to be the largest giving area of the Foundation. In 2007 a total of $4,946,676 was awarded through 943 grants. Over 88 percent of these grants were directed to local churches, and nearly 82 percent were to help launch initiatives in major cities. Five specific cities received 28 percent of our total grants awarded in 2007: Mumbai, Nairobi, Delhi, Manila and New York.

Regional granting trends remained consistent with 2006. The number of grants awarded in South Asia represented roughly a quarter of the total number awarded by the Foundation. Granting in Africa and North America also remained quite strong. However, our greatest increase in regional granting was in Europe, where giving increased 43 percent over 2006. In the remaining four geographic regions of East Asia, the Middle East, South America, and Southeast Asia there were slight increases in the number of grants awarded.

The amount of funding awarded varied considerably from region to region in large part due to the relative purchasing power of the dollar around the world. Historically, grant funding in North America has been the greatest, though it has been steadily decreasing as a share of our overall granting. Increasing by nearly 37 percent, giving in Europe surpassed that of any other region in 2007. Funds awarded in Africa and South Asia also increased considerably. Despite the significant devaluation of the dollar against many currencies worldwide in 2007, our global grant average only increased by 5 percent to $5,241.

The vast majority of our granting in 2007 was directed to support initiatives in one of three main areas of ministry. More than three quarters of grants awarded went to support efforts to proclaim and demonstrate the gospel of Christ. Projects included social outreach ministries such as preschools and health clinics, cross-cultural missions involving non-Western missionaries, and initiatives specifically aimed at youth. Church planting was again the single largest type of ministry supported, representing nearly 30 percent of all granting. Roughly a quarter of our granting was split between grants to support Christian economic empowerment and discipleship initiatives. The establishment of revolving loan funds to provide poor Christian entrepreneurs with capital to start or expand small businesses comprised 81 percent of Empowerment granting. Discipleship initiatives were significantly more diverse, with those focused on leadership development representing roughly a third of granting in this grant category. Less than two percent of our granting in 2007 was outside of Outreach, Discipleship, and Empowerment granting categories.

We do not anticipate any major changes in our granting in the coming year. We are committed to watch what God is doing through his Church and how we might come alongside to encourage that work.

Africa

JESUS HEALING AND RESTORATION MINISTRY was awarded a three-year grant totaling $7,500 matching church support to establish a revolving loan fund for poorer members of their church in Nairobi, Kenya. In the first year of the project, the church gave loans to 35 church members living in the Koroghocho slums to start small businesses. Loans were provided at a five percent rate of interest over a maximum six-month period, with an initial one-month interest-free grace period. Once repaid, the loans will further revolve to new members, or become additional loans to first-round borrowers in good standing. Roughly 85 percent of the total budget of the project is allocated for loans that should benefit over 100 people during the first three years of the project.

The Foundation funded nearly 80 revolving-loan funds to empower poorer Christians in 2007. We believe that giving decision-making power and ownership to the poor brings both hope and dignity. We value this type of empowerment which builds the resources of the Kingdom one Christian at a time and provides a tangible witness to the world of the love for each other within the Church.

In 2006 EVANGELISTIC GRACE MINISTRIES received a three-year $10,500 grant matching church support to start a revolving loan fund for vulnerable women and youth in the church. Those seeking a loan were split into groups, or cooperatives, of eight individuals each. These cooperatives were responsible for preparing a business plan and setting rules about their own repayment and savings. The average size per loan is approximately $300 to be paid back with 10 percent interest within one year.

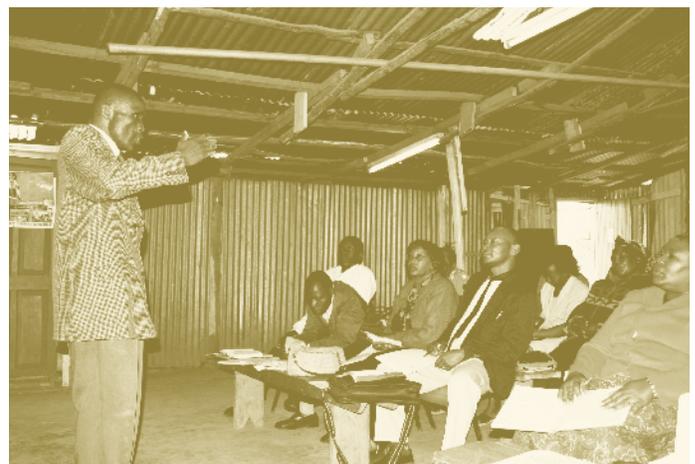

The ministry of empowerment through loan funds given by a local church has many benefits for the community and the Kingdom. Not only do local churches become a place of hope for poor Christians, but the cooperatives are a means of encouragement and accountability for the recipients.

KIBERA INTERDENOMINATIONAL FELLOWSHIP, an organization comprised of pastors from the Kibera slum, was awarded a grant of $4,000 to establish a discipleship training program for church leaders in Nairobi, Kenya. The Kibera slum is known to be one of the largest and most densely populated slums in the world. The Kibera Interdenominational Fellowship is dedicated to help church leaders serving in poverty-stricken slums be effective in meeting individuals' needs. The discipleship program is a monthly course over one year on pastoral ministry and leadership for pastors coming from 100 different churches of various denominations within Kibera.

The Foundation values the continuing Christian education of pastors and church leaders. Although we fund formal theological training through a separate scholarship program, we also support non-formal training programs through local churches. The collaboration of churches from various denominations with a desire to deepen and strengthen their knowledge of Christian teaching can be very powerful within a congregation and a community. Over 11 percent of all granting in 2007 went to discipleship initiatives.

YOKOHAMA GRACE BIBLE CHURCH was awarded a three-year grant totaling $48,000. The awarded funds matched church support to plant a new church in the Yokosuka community of metro Tokyo, Japan. The church plant started when a small number of families began meeting together regularly in their own community instead of traveling an hour to attend services at Yokohama Grace Bible Church. This gathering was affirmed and supported by the mother church as a means of establishing a daughter congregation in Yokosuka. Our grant was sought by the Yokohama church to help cover start-up costs for their daughter church, including rent, salary support, and basic materials and equipment needed for ministry.

The Mustard Seed Foundation has long supported the establishment of new churches as an effective means of reaching out and making Christ known within a community. While we support different types of church planting initiatives, we prefer a church-parenting model for establishing new churches, in which one church provides leadership, financing, and the core members for a new church. This is a church replication model based on healthy division rather than competition or conflict. It encourages a local church to sacrifice a part of itself for the sake of the expansion of the Kingdom.

In 2006 the CHRISTIAN ECUMENICAL AND APOSTOLIC CHURCH received a three-year $21,000 grant matching support from the congregation to enable it to become a viable self-supporting church. Comprised of people from Orthodox, Catholic, and Protestant traditions, the church has a specific vision to help reconcile and represent elements of these three major Christian traditions in Bulgarian society. The church also seeks to foster ecumenical dialogue and reconciliation in Bulgaria by offering unique ecumenical services, as well as organizing a variety of forums and conferences. Church members hope to reach out to the intellectual elite, including artists, journalists, and politicians, in the capital city of Bulgaria.

This grant is an important example of our desire to encourage new models of ministry that deliberately seek to reach the unreached at all levels of society. By reaching Bulgarian intellectuals using an ecumenical platform, this church is taking a bold step in introducing the gospel in a new and effective way. The Foundation looks to partner with churches who offer innovative strategies to reach individuals from every class.

The Foundation awarded a grant in 2006 to establish the EPIC CHURCH in Munster, Germany. The three-year grant totaling $25,000 is being matched by members of the start-up congregation. The church began through the help of Christian Associates International as a means of providing an alternative style of church within a postmodern urban society. Its goals are to foster authentic Christian community through non-traditional weekly gatherings, called “homezones,” that meet in the homes of individual believers for more intensive fellowship and study. The homezones also form the basis for relational outreach within the community. These groups meet together on a monthly basis for collective worship and fellowship. The hope is that by the end of three years, this new church plant in Munster, Germany will be entirely self-supporting.

Discovering new ways to conduct church within a postmodern society like Western Europe requires creative non-traditional approaches. The Mustard Seed Foundation actively seeks to encourage the establishment of new models of church planting that better meet the needs of different communities, and reach out in a more effective way. Church planting is one of the most common forms of outreach that the Foundation supports worldwide. While most of the grants we award for church planting tend to be given to a mother church which provides the nurture and accountability for a daughter congregation, some of our grants support the new independent church plants themselves. Most church planting grants are awarded for multiple years, with our support reducing gradually each year to encourage greater financial independence of the church.

In 2006 the FIRST GREEK EVANGELICAL CHURCH received a two-year $4,400 grant to establish a Christian orchestra in Athens, Greece. Inspired by the successful orchestra music ministry of All Souls Church in London and knowing the love of classical music in Greece, this church launched its own music ministry as a means of engaging non-Christians. Much of the grant was used for general start-up and travel expenses.

Using a variety of means and methods to communicate the love of Christ is highly encouraged by the Mustard Seed Foundation. We were pleased to encourage this church in Athens to develop an outreach initiative involving the use of classical music. We desire to see God’s redeeming and restorative grace brought to us through different types of creative art.

ST. MARK'S COPTIC ORTHODOX CHURCH - EZBET EL-NAKHL, located in Cairo, Egypt, received a grant of $5,000 to establish a gym outreach ministry among community youth. St. Mark's is a relatively new church that is struggling to effectively draw the surrounding nominal Christian community to a deeper knowledge and devotion to Christ. The church hopes that by establishing a fun and safe place for Christian youth to gather, they can meet both their physical and spiritual needs. Our grant went to help the church purchase recreational equipment to begin a new form of ministry outside the church that they can sustain long term.

The Foundation is pleased to partner with a number of Coptic Orthodox churches in Egypt, which has the largest concentration of Christians in the Middle East. Granting to Orthodox churches has increased considerably over previous years — a trend we expect to continue in the future. This grant also underscores our desire to encourage local churches in a variety of faith traditions to seek to reach out in new, dynamic, and unconventional ways to effectively share the love of Christ.

TOLLEF A. BAKKE MEMORIAL AWARD

Each year the Mustard Seed Foundation designates one grant award as a special tribute to the life of one of our founding board members. Tollef A. Bakke was a second generation Norwegian immigrant to the United States who lived and worked in the Pacific Northwest, Colorado, and Alaska. He also participated in a trip to the Holy Land that profoundly influenced his faith. We highlight a project from these regions in honor of him.

We recognize the grant award to Deir El-Garnous Evangelical Church in Maghagha, Egypt as our 2007 Tollef A. Bakke Memorial Award. The 2007 award was the first of a two-year grant totaling $10,400 matching local church support to establish a medical clinic outreach in the village of Deir El-Garnous in upper Egypt. The Foundation's Junior Board, comprised in part of fourth-generation descendents of Tollef, made the decision to award this grant.

SCRIPTURE UNION MEXICO was awarded a three-year grant totaling $15,200 matching the financial investment of local churches to organize a series of large public evangelistic events in Mexico City. These events not only seek to share the gospel with words, but also include free medical care among the poor, games and sports for children, and a skate and bike show for youth. Local churches are using these events to make contact, and then personally follow-up with those who express a desire to follow Christ and be nurtured in their faith.

When mass evangelistic events are coupled with direct follow-up from participating local churches, they can reach a large number of people with the gospel and provide a launching point for local ministry efforts. These events also can bring churches together who rarely have collaborated in common ministry. Our hope is that we will get many more opportunities to help local churches in the cities of Central America bring new evangelistic approaches to their own communities and neighborhoods.

CHRISTIAN LIFE CHURCH was awarded a three-year $22,000 grant to establish an outreach ministry to incarcerated gang members in Guatemala City, Guatemala. Individuals in the church had a vision to visit gang members in prison to share the gospel of Christ and distribute Bibles. The church provides basic necessities such as personal care items, towels, blankets, food, and recreation equipment that prisoners do not get from the prison system. In addition, church members bring craft supplies so prisoners can make items that their families can sell outside the prison to raise funds for their livelihood.

The Mustard Seed Foundation looks to support bold efforts of churches who empower their members to share the love of Christ with “the least of these” – those who are left behind and ostracized by society. We desire to support initiatives that seek to redeem broken lives by following Jesus’ example and command to serve others. Prison ministries that present the gospel, while creatively investing in the lives of prisoners, provide a framework for transformation of the lives of both the prisoners and church members.

The Foundation helped launch THE HOUSE COVENANT CHURCH in Chicago in 2004 with a grant of $5,000. In 2006 the church was awarded a three-year grant of $30,000 to enable the pastor and a group of volunteers to reach out to young people living on the west side of Chicago. Commonly known as "The House," this church holds hip-hop services in their community, as well as in local juvenile prisons. The church also hosts a weekly radio show geared specifically to reaching inner city youth with the hopeful message of the gospel.

The Mustard Seed Foundation encourages a variety of creative incarnational ministries worldwide to reach new sub-cultures. We are encouraged to foster the development of new leadership within communities to become strong voices for Christ through the initiatives we support. The House is one of many youth sub-culture churches in select urban centers in the United States that the Foundation has supported over the past few years.

In 2006 VICENTE LOPEZ CHURCH received a three-year $30,000 grant matching church support to open a bookstore and conference center in the San Isidro community of Buenos Aires, Argentina. The Argentine Mission of the Christian and Missionary Alliance denomination is also supporting this new initiative. The center holds outreach events such as concerts and conferences aimed at starting a church among the professional class. These events help to establish contacts with people who would not normally enter a traditional church building. Our grant helps this church afford to rent space for their bookstore, as well as provides salary support to a new pastor responsible for outreach.

The Foundation seeks to encourage the formation of disciples from every “unreached” community, city, and culture. This includes the rich as well as the poor. We strive to balance our grassroots granting to the marginalized and middle class with projects reaching elites who have the potential to influence the broader society. While we typically do not partner directly with denominational or mission agencies in launching new ministries, we will join with them in support of an effort led and supported by a local church.

South Asia

BETHANY HOUSE FELLOWSHIP in Kolkata, India received a three-year $9,250 grant in 2005, matching the church to reach out to the Dakshin Barasat community. Our grant was used to expand a primary school, establish an adult literacy ministry, and support a team of evangelists to work intensively in the community. The hope is that by ministering holistically to both children and their families, a viable new church can be established where none previously existed.

Outreach can be very difficult in communities without any Christian presence. In many parts of the world, ministering to the physical needs within a community provides a critical platform for also ministering spiritually. This is particularly true in places throughout South Asia where predominately Hindu, Muslim, or Buddhist communities are often hostile to the direct proclamation of the gospel of Christ. The Mustard Seed Foundation supports efforts that creatively present the gospel in these places through ministries such as preschools, health clinics, and other forms of social outreach.

In 2006 the FULL GOSPEL TRUST OF INDIA received at two-year $5,100 grant matching church support to start a micro-finance outreach for women in the Bhalsawra Deri community of Delhi, India. The Trust is an umbrella NGO representing roughly a dozen local churches based in the Indian capital. The Trust gathered vulnerable migrant women from different states in northern India into cooperatives, provided small business and vocational training and gave small loans to each woman. Each beneficiary returns the loan amount with two percent interest within 11 months, so the funds can be used for another small business. This initiative is one of several undertaken by these local churches hoping to provide a tangible witness of the love of Christ to nearly 3,000 women in the first few years of the project.

The Mustard Seed Foundation desires to share God's love by providing economic opportunity to disadvantaged individuals as a deliberate outreach strategy of churches. While most micro-finance initiatives that we support aim to empower poor Christians, some are designed as an outreach strategy among non-Christians. These initiatives often involve the establishment of small cooperatives or savings groups through which strong relational bonds form and the love of Christ can be more authentically demonstrated and proclaimed.

In 2006 LOGOS FAITH FELLOWSHIP was awarded a two-year $4,300 grant matching church support to establish a discipleship training center in the north Indian city of Ambala. The church created a systematic program for strengthening their members' faith and ministry skills. The long-term goal is for the trained members to be sent out to plant new churches in the largely unreached regions of northern India.

Teaching and equipping Christians to be strong disciples of Christ and active ministers of the gospel is a major granting area for the Foundation. This effort was supported because it was being undertaken by a local church that appeared poised to multiply itself in a region where churches are desperately needed. Many of these discipleship initiatives supported in 2007 were among youth, new believers, or those preparing for a specific area of ministry.

In 2006 ELSHADAI CHURCH received a two-year $3,100 grant to establish a revolving loan fund among poor Christians in Chennai, India. Due to a tsunami and heavy rains, many church members had lost their homes and belongings in their slum community. In response, the church established an income generation project for women in their congregation through a revolving loan fund. The women started small businesses in tailoring, candle-making, pickle-making, soap-making, and vegetable selling. Once the loans are repaid, they will be lent again to new participants or as a second loan to expand existing small businesses.

Revolving loan funds are the most common initiatives we fund through our Empowerment category. Not only do poorer Christians get to make decisions about their own future, but the entire church also encourages them. We favor this model of income generation because the fund can be self-sustained by charging interest and holding loan recipients accountable for repayment.

Southeast Asia

FRIENDSHIP CHURCH was awarded a three-year $9,500 grant matching church support to establish a Christian preschool. The aim of the project is to minister to both children and their working parents by providing this critical service in an area of Bangkok, Thailand. This preschool will help the church establish relationships with as many as a hundred children a year. Through these relationships, the Friendship Church will have opportunities to communicate the gospel of Christ.

Mustard Seed Foundation seeks to support different relational forms of outreach. We believe that projects that serve the community and build relationships are often an effective strategy for a church to share Christ in their neighborhood. Supporting the establishment of church-based preschools, primarily in major urban centers like Bangkok, is one way to help churches around the world launch effective ministry.

Scholarships

The Mustard Seed Foundation offers a variety of scholarship opportunities for Christians seeking advanced degrees around the world. We believe that providing scholarships to individuals who are furthering their formal education helps enable the Church to reach the whole world with the whole gospel. The Foundation believes that our scholarships empower individuals to take ownership for equipping themselves for Christian service. Through our scholarship initiatives, the Mustard Seed Foundation hopes to equip believers for strategic roles within the full spectrum of Christian ministry, from place of business to place of worship. The Foundation awards scholarships through three initiatives: Harvey Fellows Program, Theological Education scholarships, and Bakke Graduate University scholarships.

Rui Guo, 2007 Harvey Fellow

Harvey Fellows Program

Karem Roitman
2004 Harvey Fellow

The year 2007 marked the 15th anniversary of the Harvey Fellows program. During the past fifteen years we have been blessed to see the scholarship initiative grow and develop. The Foundation began the program with the goal of marking, equipping, and encouraging followers of Jesus Christ who seek to actively integrate their faith and vocations as leaders in strategic occupations where Christians are underrepresented. This idea grew from our understanding of God as Creator and Redeemer, not only of human beings, but also of society's disciplines and structures. Our desire is to identify, prepare, and celebrate this generation's Josephs, Lydias, Daniels, and Esthers—Christians who will assume positions of leadership and influence. Each Fellow is awarded a $16,000 annual stipend renewable up to a total of three years. The award is portable to a premier graduate degree program. Typically only schools considered by professionals to be among the top five globally in a given subject area or specialty are acceptable destinations.

A significant component of the program is participation in our Summer Institute that provides a forum for Fellows to be challenged on issues of integrating faith and vocation, as well as a setting to deepen relationships. The 2007 Summer Institute took place in Santa Barbara, California in conjunction with the Harvey Fellows 15-Year Reunion and Celebration. Nearly 100 Fellows attended the event, which was organized by a dedicated committee of senior Fellows.

In 2007 the Foundation invested $1,104,500 in support of 75 graduate students preparing to enter strategic ministry in academia, the arts, and the marketplace. We were privileged to award 31 new fellowships to an extraordinary group of graduate students representing a variety of nationalities and preparing for vocations in diverse fields.

Theological Education Scholarships

The Theological Education scholarship program was started in 1999 to support students pursuing advanced theological training outside of Canada, Western Europe and the United States. Since its inception we have awarded nearly $6.5 million to help fund the formal theological education of thousands of students around the world. Scholarships are awarded for up to half of the total cost of education. Qualifying students must be attending a participating institution and receiving a significant level of financial support from their home church or Christian organization. Recipients must be pursuing degrees that equip them for service to the Church in the areas of preaching, teaching, missions, or evangelism. However, priority is given to those who are being trained to directly minister in a church congregation or preparing for ministry within an urban context. The scholarships are administered in direct collaboration with the participating institutions.

In 2007 we invested a total of $1,492,301 to 1,091 students in 69 institutions around the world. Our total support for this initiative slightly increased from 2006 due to the addition of four institutions, as well as increases in scholarship support at many institutions that have been participating for a number of years.

2007 PARTICIPATING INSTITUTIONS

In addition, we continued to provide support for students pursuing certificate level training by extension at the College of Christian Theology in Bangladesh. We provided 487 scholarships totaling $3,998 in 2007.

BGU Scholarships

Encouraging urban ministry practitioners and enabling them to pursue advanced degrees has long been an interest of the Mustard Seed Foundation. In 1996 we began providing a handful of scholarships to select practitioners pursuing non-residential doctoral degrees under the mentorship of global urban missiologist and founding member of our Board of Directors, Dr. Raymond J. Bakke. The RJB Award program went through a number of changes over the years, and by 2005 we began awarding the scholarship to students studying at the newly formed Bakke Graduate University of Ministry (BGU) based in Seattle, Washington. In 2006 we broadened the scholarship still further to not only honor the life and ministry of Ray Bakke, but also those of his younger siblings, Rev. Lowell Bakke and Mrs. Marilyn Bakke Pearson, who have also contributed significantly to the ministry of the Mustard Seed Foundation with their own unique areas of gifting.

These scholarships offered through BGU focus on encouraging ministry practitioners to obtain the advanced degrees they need to sharpen their skills and deepen the theological underpinnings of their work. Most of those supported are pursuing the Doctorate of Ministry (DMin) degree in Transformational Leadership for the Global City that is offered through BGU on a non-residential, modular basis. These practitioners are enabled to remain in their respective fields of ministry while pursuing advanced study. This program is designed to make major urban centers of the world become laboratories of learning, including Seattle, Manila, Shanghai, Delhi, Cairo, Addis Ababa, and Sao Paulo. The Foundation has also supported a select handful of students pursuing a Master of Theological Studies (MTS) degree that emphasizes a highly integrative approach to biblical, theological, and historical studies.

In 2007 we were pleased to award scholarships through the Bakke Graduate University of Ministry for the advanced studies of 57 ministry practitioners totaling $259,947. This more than doubled our investment in 2006. These talented men and women come from and serve in a variety of urban centers around the world where they are actively responding to God's calling in ministry. We plan to continue to expand the level of scholarship support offered through BGU in the coming years.

Theology of Work

The Theology of Work (TOW) grant program was established in 2007 by the Mustard Seed Foundation, in collaboration with the Bakke Graduate University of Ministry (BGU). The aim of this special grant initiative is to encourage theological institutions worldwide to instruct seminarians, pastors, and educators in a biblical basis of a theology of work. A proper theology of work empowers ordinary people to infuse their Christian faith in the institutions, structures, and industries in which they work throughout the week. We believe there is a great need for pastors to learn how to steward the gifts and callings of their congregants in their own places of work and transform them into places of dynamic personal ministry.

Theology of Work grants are awarded to theological institutions, both formal and non-formal, to create and offer courses that enable students to effectively steward the callings and vocations of their congregants in their workplaces. This grant initiative hopes to encourage seminaries and other theological training organizations to integrate such a theology in their core curriculum by promoting the development and teaching of theology of work courses. It is our desire to see those trained through our grants begin teaching and modeling this theological concept in their own churches and ministries.

The TOW grants program is administered by BGU, which has developed a network of resources specializing in effectively developing and teaching curriculum for theology of work.

In 2007 we awarded eleven grants to eight seminaries and two organizations totaling $88,271. We expect to expand this special granting initiative significantly over the next few years and hope to see a greater number of churches actively teaching their congregants a theology of work.
